About Newtown, CT

A scenic New England town in Fairfield County, southwestern Connecticut, Newtown is about 60 miles from New York City. Newtown is bordered on the south by Easton and Redding, on the north by Bridgewater and Southbury, on the east by Oxford and Monroe, and on the west by Bethel and Brookfield. Newtown is traversed by Interstate 84, U.S. routes 6 and 302 and Connecticut routes 25 and 34. It covers 38,644 acres or 60.38 square miles, making it the fifth largest town by area in Connecticut.

Home to 27,000 residents, Newtown blends the charm of a rural town with the amenities of a metropolitan suburb, offering many cultural and recreational opportunities, from parks to the arts. Established in 1711, Newtown's neighborhoods include the Borough, Sandy Hook, Hawleyville, Botsford, and Dodgington.

Newtown Public Schools

The mission of Newtown Public Schools, a partnership of students, families, educators, and community, is to inspire each student to excel in attaining and applying the knowledge, skills, and attributes that lead to personal success while becoming a contributing member of a dynamic global community. We accomplish this by creating an unparalleled learning environment characterized by high expectations, quality instruction, continuous improvement, and civic responsibility.
